George Washington 15; Gallaudet 1

The buff and blue of Gallaudet College went down to defeat before the buff and blue of George Washington Saturday afternoon upon University Field by a score of 15 to 1. It was a narrow escape for the boys from Kendall Green, and if George Washington had not become overconfident in the eighth inning and allowed Meunier to lift the ball to left field for two bases, with one man on the bases who scored, Gallaudet would have been white-washed. The summary of the contest shows that George Washington made eighteen hits, while five are marked to Gallaudet's credit. Seely and Cooper hit the ball best for Gallaudet the former getting a three-bagger. George Washington had on batting clothes, and at the end of the second inning had batted out nine runs. Dillon, the first pitcher, retired from the slab in favor of Meunier. Bruce Bielaski was hammering the ball all over the lot, together with Bradley and Asquith and Stevenson, Price and Thomas, who each secured from two to three hits, while Weber and Burkett got one each.

Gallaudet went to the bat first. Cooper went out from short to first, Meunier from third to first and Hunter flied out to Bradley, and the side was out. For George Washington Asquith hit to short, Bradley hit to center for two bases and Asquith scored. Stevenson went out from third to first. Bielaski smashed the ball to left field and Elder muffed it. Weber fanned. McMahon planted the ball in deep right field and Bradley and Bielaski crossed the plate. Price retired the side by striking out. Score: Gallaudet, 0; George Washington, 3.

Second inning—Seely hit to Burkett and was retired at first. Leitch flied out to left field. Hartman hit to Asquith and the third baseman threw wild to first, and when the ball had been recovered the runner was on third. Elder, the next batter up, walked, but Hinch could do no better than fly out to short. Burkett, for George Washington, hit to left field and the ball was muffed. Thomas hit to short and Burkett went to third, Thomas stealing second a moment later. Asquith walked. Bradley hit to second and both Thomas and Burkett scored. Stevenson sent a liner to short and Asquith scored. Bielaski, the next man at the bat, sent a terrific line drive to deep center, which netted a home run, and George Washington had made three more runs. Weber hit to pitcher and was thrown out at first. McMahon was thrown out after he had sent a liner to second base. Price walked. Burkett got to first in safety, after Hunter had muffed his liner to short. Thomas fanned and the side was out. Score: Gallaudet, 0; George Washington, 9.

Third inning—Dillon struck out. Cooper hit to short. Meunier flied out to Asquith. Hunter hit to short and Bielaski threw Cooper out at second, retiring the side. Asquith flew out to left field. Bradley went out from second to first. Stevenson managed to get to first after Cooper had failed to hold his liner. Bielaski hit to center for two bases and Stevenson crossed the plate. Weber singled to right field and Bielaski scored.

McMahon made the third out from second to first. Score: Gallaudet, 0; George Washington, 11.

In the fourth and fifth innings neither side scored.

In the sixth, after Gallaudet had gone out without scoring, McMahon, for George Washington, was given his base. Price got to first after Hunter had failed to hold his liner to short. McMahon attempted to steal third and was thrown out from catcher. Burkett fanned again and Thomas hit to short, scoring Price. He was thrown out a moment later when he tried to steal second. Score: Gallaudet, 0; George Washington, 12.

In the seventh Gallaudet was retired. Asquith was thrown out from pitcher to first. Bradley hit to short. Stevenson singled to center, scoring Bradley. Hartman apparently threw the ball to the plate to catch Bradley, but it was caught by Meunier, and Stevenson, seeing the ball going to the plate attempted to stretch the single into a double and was thrown out by the pitcher at second. Bielaski retired the side by sending up a pop to short. Score: Gallaudet, 0; George Washington, 13.

In the eighth Gallaudet made its only score of the game. Dillon flied out to Weber. Cooper hit to center. Meunier singled to left field and the ball went far over McMahon's head, Cooper scoring. Hunter sent an easy fly to center field, and Seely went out from short to first. George Washington got two scores in this inning. Weber hit a hot one to short, which Hunter could not handle. McMahon tried the little shortstop a moment later with a liner and was thrown out at first. Price singled to center and Weber scored. Burkett hit to short, and while Hunter threw to first, Price ran home. Thomas flied out to third.

In the ninth inning neither side scored.

Canoe Club

On Saturday evening, May 20th, the Canoe Club of our University will give its second dance at Mrs. Dyer's residence. Inasmuch as the dance is of a benefit nature and the request for invitations has far exceeded the supply, it is felt by those who are in charge that it will be in every sense of the word as successful as that last held in December.

All who read our columns know that the purpose of the Club is to erect at some future time, and it seems now not to be far distant, a boat house wherein will be installed the coming crew of the University when the Athletic Council decides to enter into the aquatic arena. The Club has not accomplished much this past season, on account of the death of Mr. McCollum, the President of the Third Year Medical Class and also a member of the Club. The class, as well as the Club, went into mourning, and for this reason the class banquet was not held this year and the Club has only held one dance, having fully intended at the beginning of the year to have held its fifth by the time of the last for the year.

On the 30th of May the Canoe Club of our University will open its camp for the summer at Broadwater, immediately above the Chain Bridge. All those students of the University who are interested in the Club and want a pleasant site to picnic on that day are cordially invited to use the grounds of the Club. The Club will furnish transportation from the canal side of the river over to the camp site and back again. Notices will be posted later on the bulletin boards of the respective departments of the University concerning how to reach the ferry via cars and buggy. It is expected that quite a jolly gathering will take place, this being one of the prettiest spots along the Potomac, an envied spot by those walking on the canal side of the river for picnics and accessible only by a long detour of the country via Chain Bridge or by ferry, making it quite secluded and fitting for the boys to spend their summer.

Rooters section reserved in balcony for Georgetown debate. Get in line for tickets at once. See the man in the Law lobby each evening between 4:30 and 5 o'clock.

The Hippocrates Society

A little trimming now and then does a tree good, and perhaps the use of the original hatchet in the hands of George Washington was more judicious than historians commonly admit. Certainly the George Washington University is a tree of very vigorous growth, and of its mighty limbs the Medical School is one of the sturdiest.

This department has sent out branches in many directions and the HATCHET wishes now to trim away some of the leaves which have kept from observation the growth of a branch which should be of interest to the medical student, because it sprang from medical students and grows on the same material.

Eleven members of the Medical Class of 1900 formed a senior society which they called the Hippocrates Club. Its object, at the time was purely fraternal and it was intended to be perpetuated by elections from each succeeding class. But after the original members were graduated, the majority of them having become practitioners in this city, the old fraternal spirit drew them together again and they resolved to transform the Hippocrates Club into the Hippocrates Medical Society. This action gave to these young doctors an organization for the further study and discussion of medical matters; a true post graduate school in which they were themselves both faculty and student body. Since that time the Society has met regularly twice each month, during the working year from October to May, and at every meeting an original paper upon appropriate medical subjects is read by some member.

Of special interest to the medical student is the fact that membership in the Hippocrates Society may be derived from membership in the Senior Class of the Medical School. Each year the Society adds to its roll by election a number of Senior students as undergraduates members, who by virtue of such election have the privilege of attending any of the meetings, and upon graduation immediately acquire full membership.

Although not mentioned among the prizes conferred by the Medical School, election into the Hippocrates Society must be regarded as such, since it can only be secured by high qualities of personality and scholarship, and when secured endows the young graduate with an important professional accessory and a pleasant scientific fellowship.

In looking down the roll of the Medical Faculty, students will find that many of their instructors are members of the Hippocrates Society; Dr. C. S. White, Asst. Professor of Physiology; Dr. S. H. Greene, Jr., instructor in Anatomy; Dr. E. P. Copeland*, instructor in surgery; Dr. J. L. Riggles*, instructor in Anatomy; Dr. H. C. Macatee*, Instructor in Medicine and Clinical Instructor; Dr. Geo. M. Ruffin, Instructor in Anatomy; Dr. W. H. Merrill, Instructor in Electro-Therapeutics; Dr. T. S. De Grasty, Instructor in Bacteriology and Pathology; Dr. J. D. Rogers, Asst. Demonstrator of Anatomy; Dr. H. M. Jewett, Asst. Instructor in Histology; Dr. C. C. Davis, Asst. Instructor in Histology.

In the Out Patient Department of the Hospital, will be seen the names of Drs. Riggles*, Beale*, Grasty, and Mason, Surgeons; and Drs. Copeland*, Greene*, Macatee*, and Ruffin, Physicians.

The officers of the Hippocrates Society are President, Dr. Chas. M. Beall*; Vice-President Dr. J. M. Marshall; Secretary, Dr. J. D. Rogers Rogers; Treasurer, Dr. R. C. Ransdell.

Co-Ed Notes

At half past six on Wednesday evening, May Tenth, will be held the final meeting of the Woman's League of the University, and the one at which the officers for the ensuing year will be chosen.

This marks the closing for the year of an organization which, as an experiment, has been an unqualified success. Last fall, with the advent into the faculty of a "Co-Ed," in the person of Miss Freebey, a new impetus and enthusiasm was given to the girls. Some progressive, western ideas, were inculcated and the Woman's League was in great part an outgrowth of one of them—that is, the leaguizing together of the "Co-Ed" element to form a live factor in the College.

There had formerly been very little unity among the girls, for the reason that there was no opportunity for those who came in the evening classes, and those who spent the entire day here, to mingle and know each other. The consequence naturally was a feeling of strangeness and possibly some antagonism. But this new venture has entirely obviated the difficulty. The Woman's League is intended to include every woman connected with the College in the capacity of student, and has for one of its avowed purposes, the "promotion of unity and good fellowship." In this it has succeeded, as the several delightful social gatherings that have occurred throughout the year, bear witness. On these occasions, the cordiality and the informal good times have attested that, through the kindly efforts of the patronesses, and the tact and energy of the promoters, the plan has fulfilled its purpose.

And now since the evening girls have come to know the others better, they find that the latter are not entirely occupied with their own affairs ending at four thirty, but that they are anxious to have a part in the interests of the girls whose College day begins at that time. While on the other hand, the day girls have discovered that the evening girls are not always as serious as they seem and can meet them half way in any frolic. So the relations which had probably been misunderstood have been put on the most cordial and natural basis.

In athletics for the girls, great advances have been made. Through the instrumentality of some of the members, inspired principally by the enthusiasm of Miss Salisbury, a gymnasium has been procured and is being equipped as fast as the finances will permit. It is fully expected that next year the Woman's League will be even more enthusiastic than it has been in this, the first of its existence, for its marked tendency is toward development. It is with great interest that the election of officers on the tenth is looked forward to, for the question of which of the girls will be those to hold the reins of government for the next year bids fair to be an absorbing one.

It is expected in the fall, some sort of a social gathering will be held, for the purpose of bringing together the new girls, and introducing them to the College life.

The Girls' Glee Club has had a most successful year, especially when one considers that nothing of the sort had existed in the University for many years, and so it was almost as if the field were an entirely new and untried one. Plans for such an organization had been discussed for a year or more, but nothing definite was done until shortly before the Christmas of this year, when the club was finally formed. Since then the girls have worked steadily and well, and have shown much enthusiasm. Their first public appearance was at the Senior reception in Christmas week, and since then they have sung at the Freshman Concert at Carroll Institute, the Track Team Concert at Rauscher's, and the Davis Prize Speaking, where they gave the entire musical program as well as a number of more informal affairs, notably those of the Woman's League, and the Classical Club.

In spite of the comparatively short time they have been at work, the girl's singing shows a sweetness and finish that have been much commended. The weekly rehearsals have by no means been abandoned and it is more than likely that the Club will be heard once more this year. A joint concert with the University Glee Club was planned, but everyone is so busy with examinations that it may have to be given up.

Have you purchased your tickets for the Georgetown Debate? If not, do so at once. The support of all students is necessary to meet expense. Debate will be held in National Theater, Saturday, evening May 27.

The Harris-Ewing studio at 1311 F street have decided to continue in force their special rates on photographs to the students of the University until graduation, in order that students who have not yet ordered may have an opportunity of doing so at these unusually low rates. Students who have not yet ordered are cordially invited to visit their studio and inspect specimens of their fine art California photography. The most popular style seems to be the famous platinum which certainly makes a rich, elegant and artistic portrait.

EWALT R. KATES 20 PRINTER
728 13TH STREET

What of the future? The University HATCHET will continue to grow and expand in keeping with the pace set by the good institution in whose name it is published.

At present no announcement will be made of the staff for it is the intention to leave this matter entirely in the hands of the students and early in the fall either by means of a popular election or through the medium of the Association of Class Presidents to select the board from the respective departments. As to the general policy of the paper this can be said. It will add a number of pages and will be printed on a much better grade of paper. It is hoped that it can be more profusely illustrated next year for we believe that the little attempt in that line this year has been appreciated. With the increased support on the part of the students, faculties and alumni which we have every reason to expect from the marked expression of the past two years, we will have one of the largest circulated University papers in the United States and with the united effort of all we can make it the best in every particular.

The "Mall" Board has completed its work so far as the compilation of the book is concerned. All that remains for it to do now is to receive the finished article from the printer and to deliver it to those who have subscribed.

Every one who has come in contact with those who have had this important enterprise in charge have been pleased with the manner in which it has been handled. To review the work of the Board would be to deprive the student body of its prerogative of judging the result for itself. It is proper to say that the efforts of the Editor-in-Chief, the Business Manager, and the entire Board have been untiring and every effort has been made to produce a book that would be a distinct credit to the University, and to have the same delivered to the students at the stipulated time. Some of the final proof sheets have been seen and it is safe to predict that the students have a great surprise in store for them when the book is delivered. The fact that it has been produced within practically only eleven weeks speaks for itself of the high order of executive ability that has been exercised on the part of the Editor and Manager.

Subscribers who haven't paid up. You know who you are. Don't delay and cause us the trouble of looking you up after school is out. Pay your subscription to either W. A. Boyd, of the Medical School, or to W. C. Whitmore of the College. If you desire to remit to the manager, his address is 1902 H.

A Camera Club

Why not; we have most of the clubs found in the modern colleges. We should like to see such a club formed among our students. Georgetown has such an organization that is very successful and its members are most enthusiastic. Here in Washington everything is prime for one willing to take a little outing that way—where else can be found so many good subjects for the amateurs' fancy.

We have two firms represented in our columns both of which stand ready to further the ends of a camera club, the Columbia Photo Supply Co. and A. L. Moore.

All you Seniors will want your diplomas framed and the best place to have it done is at G. Irving Raybold's Art Shop, 1312 G

Georgetown Debate

The George Washington-Georgetown Debate will be held at the National Theater on Saturday evening, May 27th. There is no other University function on that evening and the faculty has arranged that there will be no examinations in order that the entire student body may attend.

One half of the theater has been reserved for the students of George Washington and their friends and the other half for Georgetown. All seats are reserved and are on sale. The Inter-Collegiate Debate Committee, having this matter in charge, is anxious that every one shall have an equal opportunity of selecting seats and therefore give this notice to the students and their friends that they are now on sale by Mr. Guy Kelly in the lobby of the Law Building between four-thirty and five o'clock every day and that those who are first, to come will be the first to be served. It is important, therefore, that those desiring choice seats shall attend to this matter at once.

Provision has been made for the rooters who will occupy a section of the balcony under the leadership of a competent leader. Tickets for this section of the theater will be sold at a reduced rate.

It should be borne in mind that this debate with Georgetown is the final of a series of three. Georgetown took the first and George Washington the second so that this final will decide the winner of the series.

The team which will represent the University is composed of Messrs. Eldestein, Pharr and Bone. These men have been working hard and if they are not victorious it will not be their fault.

Class of 1903—Law

The Class of 1903, Law, is about to put into operation a method for keeping its members in touch with one another. Just prior to graduation this class held its last meeting at the hotel at Cabin John Bridge, and at that meeting Mr. Henry G. Thomas was elected permanent secretary, with the duty to issue annually a pamphlet showing the whereabouts of the members of the class, their occupation, etc. Mr. Thomas, who is a practicing attorney in this city, has just sent out circular letters to the fellows to get in their little story for publication.

Pi Beta Phi

Saturday a very merry crowd of Pi Phis journeyed over to Baltimore and received the grip from an equally happy crowd of Woman's College girls. The George Washington chapter has always enjoyed the keenest and closest friendship with its sister chapter in Baltimore, and much delightful visiting has always gone on between the two colleges. But for enthusiastic fraternity spirit as well as personal feeling Saturday eclipsed all former meetings of the two chapters. The George Washington girls were most royally entertained. After doing all the honors of the Woman's College their hostesses conducted them to the beautiful country home of Miss Wood where a large number of the Baltimore alumnae had assembled to greet the Washington girls. There an elaborate and beautifully appointed luncheon of thirty covers was enjoyed, spiced with fascinating college tales and fraternity toasts. From the Pi Phi songs and talk that followed luncheon, the girls were hurried away to witness the performance of a most clever little play given in their honor.

Columbia Alpha is looking forward to the time when they can attempt to return in their own University such charming and perfect hospitality as was shown them.

Tennis Club

An important meeting of the newly reorganized Tennis Club was held on Friday, May 5, at 6:30 o'clock in the College Library. The Constitution presented at the last meeting was adopted with some important amendments, chiefly in the matter of the time for election of officers and the amount of the dues. The officers are to be elected annually in May, and the dues are to be fifty cents initiation fee, and one dollar a year, payable in October and May. The privilege of the use of the club courts is to be limited to members of the club, who are allowed to bring guests from outside the University.

Miss Barber, last year's Vice-president stated that the University was willing to help the club by putting the courts in order, and buying nets.

The election of officers for the next year resulted as follows:

President—Mr. Arthur D. Stivers.

Vice-President—Miss Adele Taylor.

Secretary—Mr. C. W. Whitmore.

Treasurer—Mr. Marshall Magruder.

The attendance at the meeting was by no means large, and was confined to the College students, but it is hoped that many from the other departments will join the club, and so make its success assured. The courts are to be kept in good condition all summer, and this promises a long season of tennis, which should induce many to join.

Cards of membership, without which no one will be allowed on the courts, will be issued by the secretary, Mr. Whitmore, after the initiation fee of fifty cents has been paid to the treasurer, Mr. Magruder.

It is to be hoped to place the club on a firm footing at once, so that plans may be taken up for a tournament to be held in the near future. If the student body will only lend their hearty support to the club, its possibilities for social as well as athletic success in the life of the University are practically unlimited.

Medical Notes

The Commencement Exercises of the Medical Department will be held May 29th. Professor Charles E. Munroe will deliver the address.

In connection with his lectures in Electro-Therapeutics, Dr. Walter H. Merrill is giving practical instruction to Sophomores in the uses of the Static machine and Violet Ray machine at Garfield Hospital on Tuesday and Thursday at 1 P. M.

Harry D. Chichester, a member of the Sophomore Class, after passing special examinations in his medical work, left for St. George's Island, Alaska, last Friday night. He holds a position there under the Department of Commerce and Labor, but will return and resume his studies in October, 1906.
